performance: 2:45 - 3:15pm

2nd set - Doors open: 4:30 performance 4:45pm-5:15pm

Feel free to bring friends, a bottle to share, and cash for tips.

SATURDAY

APRIL 11TH

Phoebe Vlassis invites you into a world where weaving becomes a song, a story, and a shared act of creation. From Greek love songs to industrial protest chants to pulsing electronic beats, she leads the audience through the long, tangled story of textiles with humor and heart. And as the final cloth is revealed, (woven live) you realize you've been part of the magic all along.

www.phoebevlassis.com

Phoebe Vlassis is a weaver and musician from Athens, Greece, currently based in New Orleans. Her most recent project connects weaving with music, using the loom as a percussive instrument and singing while actively weaving to the beat of the loom. Her research focuses on finding or resurfacing work songs for the loom and investigating why they are so poorly documented.
